

Breaking down the 2020 meta-analysis Neuropsychological Changes in Complex Regional Pain Syndrome by Halicka, Vitterso, Proulx, and Bultitude, in which the authors conclude the traditional “neglect-like” framework used in CRPS is insufficient and propose an alternate framework utilizing parietal cortical network disruption and reorganization. This stand-alone video is a simplified and shortened version of the four-part series on this same paper. A video essay.

Next

Previous